At Least 134 Of 159 Americans Aboard Transport Plane Survive Crash On Island In Han River

SEOUL (AP) — A burning U.S. transport plane crashed on an island in the Han River last night. At least 134 of the 159 Americans aboard were saved, but 5 bodies were found and it was feared tonight the death toll might reach 25.

The pilot said an engine of the big C-124 Globemaster ran wild, burst into flame and spewed chunks of metal into the two-story fuselage, tearing holes big enough for a man to walk through.

As the tide ebbed at the Han's mouth today, permitting resumption of the search for bodies at the crash scene, Air Force officials listed 29 persons missing and Army officials listed 17. An Air Force spokesman said:

Was Largest Transport

"It is very doubtful if they will be found alive."

The Air Force listed 134 rescued and the Army 137.

The troop transport — the Air Force's largest — took off from Kimpo Airfield for Tokyo with 10 crewmen and 149 passengers, most of them servicemen looking forward to rest leaves in Japan.

Lying on a stretcher at Tachikawa Air Base in Japan, the injured pilot, Capt. James Cartwright, 37, of Elkton, Ky., related what happened next:

"We lost power on No. 3 engine. 'It caught fire and started to throw chunks of metal through the fuselage. They hit No. 4 engine and it started to lose power."

Cut Holes In Fuselage

"Pieces of metal were coming through the fuselage, cutting holes big enough for a man to walk through."

"The metal cut the aileron cables. We couldn't turn around so I decided on the Han River. It all happened in four or five minutes."

"We landed on our belly. The first impact was smooth, but the second was a lulu. The next thing I knew I was in the water."

"I crawled on an ice floe and I like to freeze. People were pouring out of the plane and struggling onto a sand bar 50 yards from shore."

Sensational Landing

The landing on the tiny island, above the water only at low tide, was described by another Air Force officer as a "one in a million" shot that saved most of the lives. The scene was only 1 1/2

A Hungarian pianist who wanted freedom to compose his own music and a skilled craftsman in the art of china painting are among the thousands who escaped tyranny under Communist Hungary and found refuge in the United States.

Laszlo Ivan Horvath, 43, Hungarian pianist-composer who had suffered under the stifling atmosphere of communist censorship, is now in a country where he can compose the music of his choice. Horvath, his wife, Ethel, 43, and his children, Eva, 15, Ivan, 13, and Agnes, 10, are visiting Mrs. Horvath's brother in New Jersey.

Horvath was a known anti-communist and could not get a good radio job in Budapest. To make a meager living he played the piano at an espresso cafe. He likes to compose light classical music and jazz, but, he says, the communist regime was very suspicious of the influence of American jazz. Many times he was warned against playing or writing jazz music. If his compositions showed too much western influence, they were rejected.

After the failure of the October revolt, Horvath began to fear arrest because of his anti-communist activities. He also feared for the safety of his children.

BURGESS BACKS GUARD DRIVE

Burgess William C. Weaver today called upon the citizens of Gettysburg "to support wholeheartedly" the one-day recruiting drive of the National Guard on Sunday. Open house will be held at the Armory on W. Confederate Ave. Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m. and from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

The drive is part of a nation-wide campaign to enlist 15,000 new guardsmen during the month.

"Aiding the National Guard in its recruiting drive," Weaver said, "will enable those not engaged actively in the defense of our nation to support those who are." He urged Guard support "because it serves both as an efficient and economical part of our national defense, and as a valuable relief force in time of natural disasters such as floods, fires and storms."

In announcing the recruiting drive, 1st Lt. Donald E. Doersom, said "emphasis is being placed upon reaching the parents of young men in the community who are faced with military obligations."

"It is our intention to show our local citizens how these men can best fulfill their obligations by serving in the National Guard."

RURITANS SEE APPLE FILM; SEEK MEMBERS

A film and talk on the apple processing industry and plans for a membership campaign aimed at adding 10 new members in the next five months highlighted the February meeting of the Hunterstown Ruritan Club Friday evening at St. John's Reformed Church social hall at New Chester.

Norbert Kloeher and Clarence Ford, both of Gettysburg R.D., were introduced as new members, bringing the club roster to 40. A goal of 50 members by the July picnic meeting was set, with the club to be divided into two teams for the campaign. Thirty-two members attended Friday evening. Fred P. Feiser, New Oxford, was a guest.

Allen S. Stauffer, public relations director of the C. H. Musselman Company at Biglerville, spoke and showed the colored film, "Every Day Is Apple Day," on the production, processing and consumer use of apples. Donald Horst, Musselman Company horticulturist, was the projectionist.

Fiftieth Anniversary

Mr. Stauffer, who called attention to the Musselman company plans for observance of its 50th anniversary this year, said Adams County is first in apple production in the state and Pennsylvania is sixth in the nation.

The Appalachian area ranked first in the nation in apple processing with two-thirds of all the county's apples being processed last year. He pointed out the firm from 1934 to 1954 the volume of apples processed jumped 140 per cent and the use of fresh apples declined 23 per cent. In 1929 less than a million cases of canned applesauce were sold nationally and last year there were more than 15 million cases. Samples of Musselman apple juice and apple recipe books were distributed to the clubmen.

During the business meeting the treasurer, Ray Shupe, reported a balance of $330.30 in the treasury. It was decided that the team that loses the membership contest will have full charge of arrangements for the July picnic which is to be a joint affair with another club with families as guests.

WM. C. DARRAH TALKS AT CLUB'S SCHOOL AT YWCA

William C. Darrah, professor of biology and contemporary civilization at Gettysburg College, spoke Thursday night on "The Human Adventure as Found in the Great Books" at the Business and Professional Women's Club's School of Modern Living at the YWCA. Program Chairman Mrs. Edith Bushman introduced the speaker. Mr. Darrah said:

"The Greeks discovered man's own wickedness, the causes for wickedness and punishment inevitable because of it. The Greeks discovered that the wickedness is caused by man's conscience alone and not by the gods. This is seen in the first of the great books, Homer's 'Iliad' and 'Odyssey.' In these 3,000-year-old works a true expression of the Greek civilization is revealed and the philosophy, we find, has been extended into the civilization of today. Today we realize that man is thinking much the same way as he did in the era of the Greeks, and man's problems are the same."

"It is the suspicion of man that is the mother of his problems."

Reason For Course

Mr. Darrah, after discussing many of the great books, said:

"One of the reasons the course is taught is that to be intellectually honest we must point out that there have always been cynical and prejudiced minds. By studying the great books one learns to differentiate between the great authors whose minds were cynical and prejudiced and those whose works gave the true facts of men's philosophies for righteous living according to doctrines of divine justice."

"A second reason for teaching the Great Books Course is to illustrate to people that the notions of the Renaissance, the Reformation and of ancient civilization are still very much alive today."

"The skill of reading is like learning to fish or to drive a car, it is acquired only through practice. The pleasure of reading gives the maximum of pleasure and enjoyment to be obtained in no other way."

Two Safecrackers Slain By Police Who Ambushed Them

CINCINNATI (AP) — Two safecrackers walked into a police ambush in a supermarket in nearby Forestville early today and were shot to death in a wild gun battle. None of the police was hurt.

Killed in the gun battle were Earl V. Burton, 34, of Louisville, Ky., and Nicky Nader, 49, who has various addresses in Covington, Ky., and Cincinnati.

Approximately 100 shots were fired.

Robert Nelson, the store manager, said there was approximately $35,000 in the store safe.

Police had been watching the store since Detective Paul Schirmer, who lives nearby, spotted Nader in the store about a week ago. He recognized Nader as a known safe cracker and, suspecting that a burglary was being planned, Schirmer showed store employees pictures of Nader's known associates. They picked out Burton as a man who had been with Nader several times.

Police said they theorized the burglary attempt might come last night in view of heavy Friday receipts.

Detectives Waiting

A half dozen detectives, dressed in old work clothes and accompanied by wives of two of them to give the appearance of being shoppers, entered the store about a half hour before closing time. One by one, the officers wandered away and secreted themselves in a rear stock room.

Later other officers hid in a garage at the rear of the store.

Officers in the store erected barricades of grocery cartons.

Pry Door Open

At midnight Nader and Burton were seen sneaking to a rear door. They tried it open, pushed in a bag of burglar tools and entered. Police, using a specially rigged wire, flashed on the store lights. They opened fire as Nader and Burton started to run.

Burton was shot down immediately and Nader was killed as he returned the police fire.

OLD WAREHOUSE IS GONE AFTER 99 YEARS HERE

Thompson's warehouse, a familiar sight for nearly a century on Carlisle St. at the railroad, has disappeared — and just before its 99th birthday.

Soon used cars will be on sale on the land which in August of 1857 John Hoke purchased from David Troxell for $1,000. There was a one-story dwelling on it then and that was torn down before workmen began work the next May on Mr. Hoke's new warehouse.

The Gettysburg Compiler of May 17, 1858, had this to say about new building in Gettysburg that spring:

Trowel and Plane's Busy

"The trowel and the plane are again active in our midst. Quite a number of new buildings are going up — other projected — most of which will be creditable to their proprietors and the town."

"The site of the new court house is rid of all the old buildings and the masons are expected to commence the cellar walls in a day or two. Mr. Abraham Tawney has contracted for the stone and brick work. Messrs. John and Francis Cole will supply the main part of the timbers, at $15 per thousand feet, about the usual price."

"The masons will today begin work on Mr. John Hoke's warehouse, corner of Railroad and Carlisle Sts."

Dwellings Going Up

"Ex-Sheriff Thomas is putting up a very snug two-story brick residence in York St., nearly opposite the Globe Inn."

"Mr. Peter Thorn has nearly completed a two-story brick residence in Washington Street, near the College. Mr. Robert Tate has erected and now occupies a two-story frame dwelling immediately north of him, and Mr. Heiligher is putting up a comfortable brick adjoining on the south. Mr. William Steiner is building a house on the Mummaburg Rd., east of Heiligher's. That part of town is much improved and will be more so."

"The large brick house, corner of Carlisle and Railroad Sts., now owned by Messrs. D. McConaughy and John Horner, is undergoing thorough repairs and alterations to adapt it to hotel and business purposes. The new entrance looks well — quite an improvement."

"We understand that Mr. Henry J. Fainstock is making arrangements for the erection of a handsome three-story brick dwelling on Baltimore St., nearly opposite the store, and adjoining James F. Fainstock."

Carriage Shop, Too

"Mr. Joseph Martin is putting up a two-story frame building, for dwelling or shop, near the east end of York St. Mr. John Kuhn intends erecting after harvest, a two-story brick residence on the Bonaughtown road, a few lots below Mr. Christian Benner's."

"Mr. A. M. Townsley has under way a frame building on High street, below Washington, intended for a carriage work shop."

"Besides these buildings, a number of new barns and stables have gone and are going up, affording work for the mechanics, if not materially improving the appearance of the town."

DENIES CANCER SUBSTANCES IN HUMAN FOOD

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Food and Drug Administration official says he knows of no cancer-inducing substances being used in foods for humans.

FDA Deputy Commissioner John L. Harvey last night disputed a statement by Dr. William E. Smith of Englewood, N.J., that dyes and chemicals containing cancer-causing agents have been certified for use in food, amid arguments over the safety of the material.

Smith is engaged in cancer research under a fellowship from the American Academy of Nutrition. He set forth his views in a letter to Rep. Delaney (D-NY) and the congressman placed the letter in the Congressional Record yesterday.

Tighten Laws

Delaney, sponsor of legislation for tighter restriction on chemical food additives, said Smith's letter "emphasizes the urgency" of the matter.

The researcher said existing law should be tightened to make certain cancer-inducing substances—carcinogens—can "under no circumstances be introduced into food."

Questioned about Smith's contentions, Harvey said all food coloring must be analyzed and certified in advance of its use. He said carcinogens in general can be eaten in large quantities without producing cancer, but might cause tumors or cancer if injected under the skin. He said a carcinogen is any substance capable of producing cancer.

FBI HEAD SAYS REDS WANT TO DESTROY NATION

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (AP)—FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover, honored by Freedom Foundation "for his resolute leadership against godless communism," says America's Reds, despite "a dazzling performance of shifting and turning," still plan to destroy this nation's liberties.

Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation for 33 years, was among 753 individuals, businesses, organizations and schools cited yesterday at special George Washington's Birthday ceremonies for furthering "the American way of life" by what they said, wrote or did.

Hoover declared American "Reds" are "under ceaseless attack both from within and without" and warned they "can be preserved only through eternal vigilance."

He said the aim of Communists—in America and throughout the world—has not changed.

Use All Tricks

"American Communists have put on a dazzling performance of shifting and turning," he reported. "In the days and weeks which lie ahead, they will resort to every time-proven Communist trick to deceive the American public by advocating a peaceful transition to socialism, by appealing to the masses with trumped-up charges of injustices, by seeking to build a broad coalition of socialist forces, by recapturing the naive, and by mobilizing the 'pseudo liberals.'"

Its new look and program are designed to enable the American Communists to regroup and develop a militant party to accomplish their "historic mission" of destroying American freedoms.

"Soviet-style communism remains the ideal, and the Communist Party intends to do its best to impose it upon this country."

NAVY REPORTS DARING MISSION BY HELICOPTER

PATUXENT, Md. (AP)—The Navy today disclosed the details of a daring helicopter mercy mission and a doctor lowered in the black of night to the roof of a Chesapeake Bay lighthouse accidentally shot up by three Navy planes last Monday.

The attack bombers were on a gunnery training mission out of the Atlantic City Naval Air Station. A board of inquiry is trying to find out why their rockets struck the lighthouse rather than a target four miles away.

The naval air test center here is some 24 air miles across the bay from the lighthouse.

When first details of the strafing reached the Naval Air Station here and before it was known that no one was hurt, the Navy sent for Lt. Cmdr. William C. Casey, 35-year-old helicopter pilot from Staten Island, N.Y., a pioneer in flying helicopters at night on instruments.

Assembles Rescue Crew

Casey quickly assembled a crew — co-pilot and hoist operator — and picked up a doctor, Lt. Charles E. Cook, 27, of Sioux Falls, S.D., the real hero of the would-be mercy mission.

Casey said Cook, "still in his Navy blues and carrying his little black bag," had never been up in a helicopter nor had he ever been lowered from one in a sling.

Fifteen minutes after takeoff from Patuxent, Cmdr. Casey had his "egg beater" hovering about 10 feet above the roof of the island lighthouse while his co-pilot, Lt. (JG) J. P. McCullough, 35, of Dexter, Ga., kept an eye out for radio antennas and other obstructions which might foul up the copier's blades.

The planes which had accidentally strafed the lighthouse were not from Patuxent and Casey and his crew had no way of knowing whether, at that very moment, they might be aiming more rockets at the lighthouse and his copier.

Lowered Safely

Lt. Cook, thoroughly instructed not to let go of the sling until he had found a firm footing on the slanting roof of the lighthouse, was lowered away by Seaman A. Colon, the copier's 16-year-old hoist operator from Brooklyn, N.Y.

Casey said he then circled the lighthouse until someone helped Lt. Cook inside. The helicopter stayed in the vicinity until a boat from the mainland arrived at the rocket-blasted tower.

Two men had been scratched slightly when the rockets ripped through the building, but no others were hurt.

FOOT LOCKER

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Robert Lee Gunnoe Jr., 4-year-old son of a Charleston detective, "footcuffed" himself by locking his father's handcuffs around his ankles.

Gunnoe decided the case could wait until he got through work so young Robert hobbled around all day, unable to put on his pants. "He was certainly happy when I unlocked the cuffs," said Gunnoe. "But he doesn't try that again."

HOME STUDY

DETROIT (AP)—Students at the University of Detroit will be able to take up to two-thirds of their college work from an easy chair at home beginning next September.

ADVICE UNHEEDED

DALLAS (AP)—Donald Taylor, 18, found a note attached to the windshield of his car when he picked it up at a parking lot. The note advised him to call an enclosed telephone number if anything was missing.

Taylor threw the note away, drove home, and reached into the trunk for his suitcase. It was missing.

Littlestown PRESIDENT OF COLLEGE FOR DEAF SPEAKS

Dr. Leonard Elstad, president of Gallaudet College, Washington, D. C., was the guest speaker at the ladies' night dinner meeting of the Littlestown Lions Club, held on Thursday evening in St. John's Church social hall. Gallaudet College is the only college in the world for the deaf, and it presently has 300 students enrolled. Dr. Elstad explained the teaching of lip reading and sign language. The speaker told his audience that there are over 175,000 deaf people in the United States.

Over 80 Lions and their lady guests were in attendance. A baked ham dinner was served by the women of St. John's Church. Announcement was made that the spring zone meeting will be held on May 9 in Spring Grove.

During the directors' sessions a donation of $10 was voted to the Heart Fund. It was announced that the disposal cans, owned by the club and placed throughout the business section of the community for the collection of trash, have been repainted and replaced to their original spots. It was decided that "The Lion," official publication of Lion International, will be placed among the regularly received magazines at the Littlestown High School Library.

Plan TV Party
Plans were furthered for the TV party to be sponsored by the club on Thursday, April 11, in the local high school auditorium. The evening's entertainment will be patterned after four popular television programs and there will be audience participation. Door prizes and show prizes will be given.

The next regular meeting of the Lions will be held on Thursday, March 7, 7 p.m., at St. John's. The finance committee, composed of H. Dean Stover and John A. Shorb, has announced that the program will include a speaker from the FBI.

Members of the Women's Guild of Redeemer's Reformed Church are asked to take their Bibles along to the February meeting of the guild on Monday at 7:30 p.m., in the church social hall. The Bibles will be used during the program, which is in charge of Miss Bernice J. Currens and her committee.

Mrs. John Gentzler, Girl Scout neighborhood chairman, has announced that, if any of the Scout troop leaders need information about which windows in the community are available for Girl Scout Week displays, they should contact Mrs. William H. Marshman, E. King St.

"GARMENT OF GOD"

God wears a garment woven
... upon the loom of love ...
composed of sunbeams and the moon ... and stars that shine above ... the velvet grass and flowers ... are lacework that He treasures ... a rainbow is
His halo ... these fashions are His pleasures ... smiles from the threads of kindness ... and so does brotherhood ... stronger than winds of time ... because they stem from good ... God wears a gown of faith and hope
... tied with the cord of trust
... the color scheme is dotted with ... the autumn's golden rust ... new fallen snows of winter ... make up the silver lining ... so necessary for the King ... whose love is always shining ... God wears a garment woven ... from everything worthwhile ... now and forever it will be ... the very latest style.

TRY TO BREAK DEADLOCK IN MIDDLE EAST

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Behind-the-scenes efforts to break the Middle East deadlock were intensified today after a formal Asian-African demand for sanctions against Israel.

Despite the atmosphere of crisis after a six-nation resolution calling for penalties against Israel was introduced in the General Assembly, U.N. delegates saw new hope in Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld's announcement on Egypt's stand regarding the Gaza Strip.

He said the Egyptian government would let the U.N. Emergency Force take up positions in the disputed strip. He also said Egypt would let the U.N. help end all raids from either side of the Egyptian-Israeli border.

Israel Unimpressed
Israel appeared unimpressed by the announcement, made by Hammarskjöld as the Assembly yesterday opened its delayed debate on the latest aspects of the Middle East dispute. The Israeli delegation made no official comment on Hammarskjöld's statement, but private Israeli sources expressed these views:

1. The statement is the secretary general's interpretation of the Egyptian position and does not commit President Nasser's government to a specific stand on Gaza.

2. The statement does not spell out how long the U.N. force would remain in Gaza.

3. It says nothing about the Sharm El Sheikh area on the Gulf of Aqaba.

Israeli Forces Stay

Israeli forces still hold positions on the gulf as well as in Gaza, despite repeated U.N. demands that they get out. Israel insists it must have guarantees of free access through the gulf to its port of Eilat before the troops quit that sector of Egypt. It also insists on assurances of protection against Gaza-based raids.

U. S. circles indicated they consider Hammarskjöld's announcement significant but reserved further comment. Other Western diplomats said Egypt appeared ready to go at least part of the way toward meeting Israel's demands.

Introduced By Lebanon
Egypt's Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi told the Assembly his government is not taking the law into its own hands. He accused Israel of carrying out a "bull in the china shop policy."

The sanctions resolution was introduced by Lebanon's Foreign Minister Charles Malik, who called on U. N. members to deal out justice in the case. After its introduction the Assembly adjourned until Monday to give the United States time for further talks with Israel. This and other extending to next week the Assembly's closing date, previously set for today.

HUNTER ON WHEELS

CLARKSVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Most hunters tramp through the woods in search of a deer. Not so with Woodrow Rogers of Clarksville. A paraplegic since he was wounded in World War II, Rogers hunts deer from a car.

Last year was the first since 1948 that he failed to bag a deer and he has a good excuse for missing.

Two paraplegic friends were visiting him and he gave them the "shooting side" of the car — the right side.

Littlestown REV. KAMMERER IS HONORED AT JAYCEE EVENT

The Rev. David Sylvester Kammerer, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, for the last 32 years or since April 25, 1925, when he and his family came to Littlestown, was honored by the Littlestown Junior Chamber of Commerce on a "This Is Your Life" program, staged along lines similar to the Ralph Edwards television show, in the Littlestown High School auditorium Friday night. A capacity crowd was on hand to see and to hear highlights of his life unfolded by Marvin F. Breighner, emcee for this portion of the evening's entertainment, which was a complete surprise to Rev. Kammerer.

The Rev. Mr. Kammerer was born July 5, 1891, the only son of John and Edith Gardner Kammerer, in Oberlin. As a teen-age boy he completed eighth grade, then to work to learn pipe fitting, working his way up to acetylene welder and engineer. Rev. Kammerer was 21 years old and married to the former Abigail C. Chambers, when he decided to study for the ministry. He worked to earn a high school diploma and did his college subjects at the same time, graduating from Susquehanna University with a Bachelor of Arts degree in 1916. To earn his way, while studying he mowed lawns, tended furnaces, worked on farms, and did all the plumbing work on the campus. While still attending seminary at Susquehanna U., he served as pastor at Harleton. He was ordained in May, 1919.

Message From Teacher

A message from one of his teachers, Dr. Edwin M. Brumgart, who is 85 years old and was unable to be present, was read by the master of ceremonies. The Rev. Mr. Kammerer also served as pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, Sunbury, and on April 25, 1925, came to serve St. Paul's Lutheran Church. He received his Bachelor of Divinity degree from Gettysburg Seminary in 1930 and his Master of Sacred Theology in 1933. His 25th anniversary in the ministry was observed by his present congregation in 1950, and along with other gifts, they financed a trip to the Holy Land for him and Mrs. Kammerer. During his pastorate, both the interior and exterior of the church have been remodeled and redecorated and a new Sunday School addition to the present church building is nearing completion, at a cost of approximately $80,000.

When the spotlight settled on the subject, as his name was announced by the emcee, the Rev. Mr. Kammerer was escorted to the stage by L. Robert Snyder, a member of his congregation. First to be called to the stage were three school chums, George Shaffer, Gene Rheykugler and George Thompson, Harrisburg, who together with Rev. Kammerer had sung as a quartet; the group gave a sample of their singing by joining in "I Want A Girl." It was through one of his chums that the Rev. Mr. Kammerer started going to the church, where he met his wife, who joined him on the stage.

Children Introduced

Rev. Oscar E. Feenan, pastor of Grace Lutheran church, Two Taverns, and St. Luke's Lutheran church, near White Hall, a classmate of the Rev. Mr. Kammerer, and Grace and Marie Geiselman, Hanover, who also attended Susquehanna University, appeared on stage to offer congratulations. Also taking their places in his life were the four children of the Rev. and Mrs. Kammerer; David S., near town, married to the former Helen Blosser; Abigail, Cemetery St., married to Robert W. Gouker; Rev. John Mannheim, pastor of the Ironburg Lutheran church, married to the former Mary Shaffer, and John, Emmaus, married to the former Romaine Kopp.

Stanley M. Staub, W. King St., with whom the Kammerer family ate its first meal in Littlestown, was present. He is currently superintendent of St. Paul's Sunday School. Arthur E. Bair, a hunting companion; Luther D. Snyder, a fellow Rotarian, and Paul E. King, who was the Rev. Mr. Kammerer's supervisor when he taught shop at the local high school, during the war years, also appeared on stage. The Rev. Mr. Kammerer is a charter member of Rotary in town, served as president, during 1938-1939; was assistant secretary for several years, song leader for 20 years and once formed a Rotary Harmonica band. All recalled humorous events of the past for the audience's entertainment.

couple married by the Rev. Mr. Kammerer here, came to congratulate him: the first baby he baptized, Gordon Shuey, Baltimore, was unable to be present; John H. Riley, principal of the Rolling Acres Elementary School, a member of the subject's first confirmation class, was on stage.

Members of the Littlestown Ministerium present to offer congratulations were the Rev. G. Howard Koons, pastor of Christ Reformed Church; the Rev. William C. Karns, pastor of St. John's Lutheran, and the Rev. Porter W. Seiwel, pastor of Redeemer's Reformed. Visiting clergy, formerly pastors in town, were the Rev. Theodore W. Boltz, former pastor at Redeemer's, now at Passaic, N. J.; the Rev. Frank E. Reynolds, also former pastor, at Redeemer's, now at Reading, and the Rev. Kenneth D. James, former pastor of St. John's, now at Glen Rock. Messages of congratulation and felicitations were read by these ministers from the Rev. Dr. Nevin E. Smith, Hanover; the Rev. John C. Brumbach, Bangor, former pastor of Christ Reformed; the Rev. Dr. Dwight F. Putnam, president of the Central Pennsylvania Synod; the Rev. Dr. Harvey D. Hoover, former professor in the Gettysburg Theological Seminary, and James K. Bingham.

Last to appear on the stage were the Rev. and Mrs. Kammerer's son-in-law, daughters-in-law and their seven grandchildren. Mrs. Kammerer was presented with an orchid. The Rev. Mr. Seiwel, ministerium president, presented the couple with a framed Sallman's "Head of Christ," from the ministerium and L. Robert Snyder, for the Jaycees, presented them with an RCA portable television set. Master of Ceremonies Marvin F. Breighner presented the Rev. Mr. Kammerer with a book containing the script of his life and he will also receive a tape recording of the evening's program.

The Rev. Mr. Kammerer was honored at the recent Bosses' Night meeting of the Jaycees, when they presented him with a plaque in recognition of his community service. A party was held at the conclusion of the program, for all those who participated, in the "home ec" rooms of the school, arranged by the Jaycees. Mrs. Marvin Breighner, Mrs. Fred W. King and Mrs. William R. Keefe poured. Furniture for the program was provided by the Community Furniture and Appliance Store.

Variety Show First

A variety show of musical entertainment preceded the "This Is Your Life" feature with Grover C. Gouker Jr., Hanover Jaycee, as master of ceremonies. Mr. Gouker, who is well known in civic affairs in Hanover, was introduced to the audience by Mr. Breighner. The auditorium stage was arranged as a "tropic room of the Hotel Maple Avenue." There were palms, a South Sea island painting as the backdrop, the booths and orchestra seats. The show got off to a rollicking start with a chorus line and hula by the Jaycee "Baby Dolls," who were Albert J. Bair, Clyde W. Crouse, Thomas E. Craig, Gerald W. Saley, Richard D. Thomas, Ralph C. Unger, Robert Reinaman, William Dutterer, Ray T. Harner, William R. Keefe, Thomas Bucher and Clyde Bucher. The "Baby Dolls" were dressed in grass skirts, leis and other island attire. The chorus line was accompanied by the "hotel" orchestra, which included: Charles E. Tressler, playing sax; Robert Clark, trombone; Gary Strevig, piano; Carl Wanz, drums, and Alvin J. Groft, bass. Leonard Zinn and Edward Adams, guitarists, also accompanied for the hula dance.

Lions' Quartet Sings

A duet, "Steel Guitar Rag," was then played by Mr. Zinn, a Hanoverian, and Mr. Adams, a Littlestownian. The program then continued with a baritone solo, "Love Is A Many Splendored Thing," sung by Clarence L. Schwartz Jr., of town, and he was accompanied by the orchestra. Miss Mary Ann Burgoon, local high school senior, who recently participated in all-state chorus at Washington, sang "Canadian Sunset" to the orchestra accompaniment, along with effective lighting in the background. In "gob's" attire, James Kress, senior at LHS, sang "Cindy" Miss Burgoon and Mr. Schwartz then

MISSING MAN'S BODY IS FOUND; BOY IS JAILED

GALLIPOLIS, Ohio, (AP) — Officials in four states are carefully piecing together the story of what happened to John Ward, 68, retired Coal Grove iron molder, who has been missing since Valentine's Day.

A battered body found yesterday along a highway in Virginia has been tentatively identified as Ward.

Lloyd Hill, 17, with whom Ward left here Feb. 14 en route to Florida, is in Gallia County jail. Hill showed up here in Ward's blood-spattered car Feb. 15—without Ward.

Virginia state police investigator Steve Shelton said the man found there was murdered. Grayson County Coroner Dr. J. C. Moxley said the man had been dead about a week.

"Gave Auto As Gift"
Hill told Gallia County Sheriff Oscar Baird that Ward, his cousin, hired him Feb. 14 to drive him to Florida. He said they drove as far as Winston-Salem, N. C., where Ward met a friend and decided to continue south with him.

Hill said Ward gave him the auto as a gift.

The youth was arrested Feb. 15 in South Charleston, W. Va., and fined for driving without an auto license. South Charleston police said he was alone then. He paid the fine and returned here that day where he was immediately taken into custody for investigation.

Baird said blood-stained blue jeans were found in the car. He said Ward's luggage, also blood stained, was still in the car.

dren especially his son, Ivan, who wanted to join the revolutionists. On November 21 Horvath and his family started for the Austrian border. All he carried with him were his compositions.

The Intergovernmental Committee for European Migration brought them to Germany, and they came to the United States sponsored by the International Rescue Committee.

Michael Goschler, a craftsman in the old and painstaking art of china painting, will soon be starting a new life in New Jersey. Goschler, 33, his wife, Therese, 32, and children, Elisabeth, 7, and Ladislav, 6, are Hungarian refugees who for many years have been hoping to go to the United States. Mrs. Goschler and the children could have come into the United States because her parents live in New Jersey, but Goschler was never granted an exit visa by the Hungarian government.

Last October 31 Goschler saw his chance to get away. He went by truck to the Austrian border and crossed at Jenersdorf. He thought that soon his wife and children could come legally, joined for a duet "True Love." The large crowd then enjoyed selections by the Gettysburg Lions Club quartet, composed of Robert Deardorff, David Blosser, Dr. Clarence Bartholomew and Paul Grove. The quartet sang "I Got Shoes," "I Love Paris" and "Battle of Jericho," accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Bartholomew. During intermission, refreshments were sold by the Jaycees.

Ushers were Brenda Worley, Evelyn Breighner, Judy Ruggles, Mary Ritter, Joyce Barnes and Sandra Woodward.

WILSON STICKS TO SIX MONTHS GUARD TRAINING

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson, sticking to his guns on the six months training program for the National Guard, last night carried his argument into the opposing camp.

He was the honor guest at a dinner of the Philadelphia City Troop, one of the oldest Guard units in the nation. The blunt, white-haired defense chief stirred a storm of comment last month when he remarked that some young men joined the Guard to avoid the draft during the Korean War.

Wilson, in an interview before his talk at the dinner, said he did not come to Philadelphia to apologize for his remarks about the Guard. He declared he came here at the special invitation of Maj. Gen. Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, Pennsylvania's adjutant general, who has given his support to the Army. Wilson six months active duty plan. Numerous National Guard leaders favor only an 11-week program.

"Highly Apologetic"

In his talk at the Philadelphia Guard unit's armory, Wilson departed from his prepared text and said he was "highly apologetic" for his comment on the Guard. That reference drew a burst of applause.

Wilson came to Philadelphia on a two-fold mission. He accepted in mid-afternoon an award given by the Defense Department by the Freedoms Foundation in a ceremony held at Valley Forge Memorial Park. He then journeyed to Philadelphia to be met by the mounted First City Troop escort — on horses borrowed for the occasion from the City Mounted Police unit because the National Guard unit now employs only tanks — and was driven to the National Guard armory in downtown Philadelphia.

Never Questioned Valor

In his speech he said: "Never for one moment has the valor of the members of the National Guard or the great traditions of its accomplishments on the battlefield, been questioned. But there is grave doubt as to the adequacy of their training and readiness for future emergencies."

At issue is the Army's order that starting April 1 all National Guard recruits will train with the Regular Army for six months. The Guard has advocated a training program of 15 weeks and some members of Congress have questioned the need of the entire program.

POSTPONES U. S. VISIT

BONN, Germany (AP) — West German President Theodor Heuss has postponed his visit to the United States because of bronchitis, his office announced today. The 73-year-old president was due to go to Washington March 5. He has been in bed all this week, and today his doctors reported they had advised him not to travel.

bringing with them their possessions, but by November 4, after the Russian Army moved back into Hungary, the family knew that there would never be a chance of leaving Hungary legally. On November 13, carrying nothing with them, they joined other refugees fleeing to the border. They traveled by train, truck and foot, and a Hungarian Army military truck took them the last lap to the border. Some of the soldiers escaped with them.

Two days later the family was reunited in Vienna through the effort of the Red Cross.

The Goschlers have been sponsored by the National Catholic Welfare Conference and came to the United States on a specially chartered plane of the Intergovernmental Committee for European migration.

DELANY FACES DWYER TONIGHT IN THE GARDEN

NEW YORK (AP) — Ron Delany, the turkey-trotting Irishman from Villanova, faces the sternest opposition of the year in his bid to sweep the indoor boards clean tonight in the national AAU track championships in Madison Square Garden.

The Olympic 1,500-meter champion from Villanova goes up against Fred Dwyer, a Villanova alumnus, and Laszlo Tabori of Hungary in the featured mile race of a star-studded meet that has drawn 254 assorted entries and promises at least a couple of new indoor records.

But with it all, most of the attention will be focused on the mile — an event in which Delany has ruled the roost for 11 straight races on boards. He already has taken care of Dwyer and Tabori individually, but this is the first time he has faced them together.

Delany never has tried for records indoors, and as a result, his best indoor mile is 4:06.3 compared to the world record of 4:03.6 set two years ago by Gunnar Nielsen.

Tabori's coach, Mihaly Igloi, said his charge isn't quite ready to break the record. But he's willing to try to give Delany a fight for it — say a 3:03 three-quarters, which would mean Ronnie would have to turn on a full head of steam in the final quarter.

Dwyer also isn't quite sure how fast Delany can go. But he, too, will try to make Ronnie move on the final quarter and perhaps keep up with him. If Dwyer or Tabori hit the three-quarters in 3:03 and Delany is loafing along behind, as is his custom, he very well may have to break the record to win.

Resident Of Zoo Is Social Outcast

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The newest resident of the Jacksonville zoo is a social outcast.

First hint that something might be lacking in his personality came when the owner sold the spider monkey to the zoo.

But when he was put on an island with about 30 others of his kind, the hint became concrete action — the others threw him into the moat.

Zoo workers fished him out and put him back on the island. The other monkeys threw him into the moat again.

Supt. Gus Basford put the monkey in a cage by himself.

BURY MRS. DUTTERER

Funeral services for Mrs. Martha Jennie (Hollinger) Dutterer, 71, wife of John W. Dutterer, formerly of Silver Run, who died at her home, 1114 Rosedale Ave., Baltimore, on Wednesday morning, were conducted Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the J. W. Little and Son Funeral Home, Littlestown. The Rev. Christopher J. Noss, pastor of St. Mary's Evangelical and Reformed Church, Silver Run, assisted by a former pastor, the Rev. Dr. Edward R. Hamme, Union Mills, officiated. Interment was in St. Mary's Cemetery, Silver Run. Serving as pallbearers were nephews, Stewart and Curvin Hollinger, Norman and Harry Hahn, Paul Hollinger and Ralph Hull.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — A wheel from a truck rolled down a highway by itself and crashed through the door of a building. Police said they believed the wheel came free from the truck without the driver's knowledge. The building was a service station.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The National Guard and Highway Patrol observers are keeping a close watch on the Portsmouth area where new cable cuttings have again blacked out telephone communications in the Ohio River city.

Gov. C. William O'Neill reported that except for cable cuttings, there appeared to be no new incidents of violence in the long southern Ohio telephone strike.

He said the highway patrol has sent some additional patrolmen into the area, both as observers and to keep highways and streets clear should there be any need for those measures.

Refused To Send Guard

On previous occasions, both Gov. O'Neill and his predecessor Frank J. Lausche, declined to send Guard units into the area unless the situation became serious enough to warrant that action.

Clare E. Williams, Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co. president, said the blackout, most recent of three since since the Communications Workers of America went on strike July 15, apparently includes both local and long distance telephone service and telegraph service in Scioto County.

Williams said he plans to immediately evacuate supervisory personnel who have been manning the exchanges there. He said it would be "completely futile to try to restore service there now with vandalism knocking out service as fast as we can repair cables."

Union Denies Blame
The union has consistently denied responsibility for the vandalism.

Meanwhile, negotiators of both sides appear to be more optimistic than they have been in months as they resume talks here today. They recessed yesterday.

A tight news blackout has been imposed on the current series of talks, reportedly to prevent disruption of negotiations through misunderstandings by one side or the other of public statements by negotiators.

9-YEAR-OLD BOY LOSES LIFE IN SCHOOL BLAZE

MOUNT AIRY, N. C. (AP) — All but one of more than 400 terrified youngsters scrambled out of windows or dashed through doors as a lightning-fast fire raged through their school here yesterday.

The toll stood today at one dead and about 30 injured. The school is a smoking ruin.

Many of the grade-school children teetered fearfully on window ledges of the one-story brick building and had to be helped or pushed out.

Several teachers suffered painful injuries as they herded their charges to safety. At least one was burned critically in the room where a boy's body was found.

A. P. Phillips, principal of the Flat Rock School, said, "We never dreamed anybody could get trapped with so many exits." There were four, two at both front and rear.

The fire started at the rear of the auditorium surrounded by classrooms.

"It's unbelievable how fast the flames and smoke filled the building," Phillips said.

Firemen said the building, erected about 1925, was destroyed in less than an hour after the fire started about 1:15 p.m.

Larry Adams, nine-year-old third grader, was the only one who didn't get out. His teacher, Mrs. Cora Bensley, was among five critically burned. Spectators said they assumed Mrs. Bensley had tried to the last to help Larry escape.

Padlocked Car Blocks Firemen On Way To Burning Home; Expectant Mother Forced To Fight Through Snow To Reach Hospital:
A home was destroyed by fire because a padlocked car blocked fire trucks and the vehicles were unable to penetrate the snow-drifted roads.

An expectant mother was transferred through snowdrifts, from one car to another in order to reach the Warner hospital for the birth of a baby.

Five and one-half hours were required by one motorist to journey from Gettysburg to Emmitsburg, a distance of 10 miles.

A Greyhound bus blocked traffic on North Washington street Saturday night for more than a half hour when it stalled in a snowbank.

Every road in the county, except one, was drifted closed.

Worst snow conditions in the county since 1941.

Those were some of the highlights of the week-end's storm conditions in this area.

The home of George Sandoe, turkey raiser near Heidlersburg, was destroyed by fire. Loss was estimated at $5,000. Sandoe had gone to Biglerville and was isolated there by the drifting snow which prevented his return Saturday night.

About 6:45 o'clock Saturday night, Paul Wolf, York Springs garageman, answered a call for assistance with his wrecker near Heidlersburg. He saw the flames of the burning house and called the York Springs fire company.

The firemen arrived within a mile and a half of the blaze when they were blocked by a car parked in the middle of the road.

F. E. Coulson, of the York Springs fire company, said the vehicle was in gear, the emergency brake was drawn, and a chain was placed around the doors and padlocked. As a result firemen were unable to move the machine and the fire trucks could not, due to the drifts, get around the car.

He added that firemen walked the mile and a half to the blaze. There they found that a number of articles of furniture had been removed from the burning house but could not locate George Sandoe and his brother Luther who lives with him. Not knowing that George was snowbound in Biglerville and that Luther had gone to a neighbor home they feared the men may have gone back into the house for more furniture and had been trapped.

Mrs. Richard Galusha, Bendersville, was the expectant mother who had to fight her way on foot through snow drifts this morning from one car to another when the car in which she was riding became stuck in the drifts between Gettysburg and Biglerville. Arrangements were made for another car to come to the other side of the drift and she waded through snow to the other car to complete her journey to Gettysburg. She gave birth to a seven-pound boy an hour after her arrival at the hospital here.

Today's Talk

TO BE SUSTAINED
In my library — mostly near at hand upon my writing desk — are two little books, called "Great Companions." To my notion, the set is the finest anthology of thoughts from the great of this earth that has ever been compiled. I can think of no other books in literature that have such sustaining power.

These books have been compiled by Robert French Leavens and are published by the Beacon Press, Boston. Either volume can be easily carried in one's pocket — and the nearer to one's heart it is placed the warmer you will feel!

Great human beings are always good company. In these volumes are to be found extracts of poetry, religion, philosophy, nature, inspired literature and brief bits from Plato to the great modern thinkers of today. These two small volumes are almost a library in themselves. In them you will read the thoughts of the great whose words have sustained and inspired multitudes for centuries. The set is well titled "Great Companions."

Here are to be read the thoughts of Richard Jefferies, Emerson, Thoreau, Plato, Dante, Keats, Montaigne, Bunyan, Albert Schweitzer, Oliver Wendell Holmes, Vachel Lindsay, John Dewey, Whitman, Dr. Osler, John Muir and scores of others. Let's call it a miniature library of the important thoughts of all time!

Many write to this column asking for the names of good books to read. I have mentioned many over the years, but never one that wasn't well worth reading. I feel I am doing a public service by praising good books. Books are life. They are our most valued silent friends!

OPTIMIST
He loved the crocus in the spring.
He smiled to see the snowdrops grow,
He knew the beauty warmth would bring
When winter reached the time to go.

He knew his garden, bleak and bare,
Would glow with beauty later on,
That underneath the snowdrifts there
Was loveliness he'd look upon.

He braved the cold and bitter blast,
Had ample courage for its sting.
"Winter," he'd say "not long will last;
The trees will soon be blossoming."

DR. M. B. HARRIS DIES ON FRIDAY

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Dr. Mary Bell Harris, former superintendent at four eastern institutions for women and a pioneer in women's penal work, died yesterday at 89.

Dr. Harris, who succumbed at Evangelical Community Hospital after a week's illness, had retired in 1941 after 25 years in penal work.

She was superintendent of the Federal Industrial Institution for Women at Alderson, W. Va., from 1925 to 1941. Previously she had charge of the Women's Workhouse on Blackwell's Island, N. Y., in 1916; the Reformatory for Women at Clinton, N. J., in 1918; and the State Home for Girls at Trenton, N. J., from 1919-1925.

Dr. Harris was the author of the book "I Knew Them in Prison," published in 1936, and also wrote a number of magazine articles. She was a frequent consultant on penal matters and problems.

She was a trustee of Bucknell University at Lewisburg, where gesen, Norwegian cousin of Mrs. A. E. Rice Jr., Biglerville, who is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Rice at Biglerville, today told of his experiences with the Norwegian underground and called it, "in a way, a happy period of my life." The happiness derived from the knowledge that he was fighting for freedom and from the companionship of American troops—a group of paratroopers of the OSS—who were the only Allied troops in uniform in Norway at the end of the war.

PRIME MINISTER OF JAPAN QUILTS IN ILL HEALTH

TOKYO (AP)—Prime Minister Tanzan Ishibashi resigned today because of ill health. The chances look bright for Foreign Minister Nobusuke Kishi, who narrowly missed getting the post last December, to succeed him.

Ishibashi, 72, took office only two months ago. Within a month he was stricken with bronchial pneumonia and a weakened heart. He never was able to attend a session of the Diet (parliament) as Prime Minister.

Late last night his doctors announced Ishibashi would be bedridden another two months, and today the Prime Minister and his cabinet submitted their resignations, to be effective upon the selection of a successor, probably next week.

Diet Will Choose
The Diet will choose the new government chief from the ruling Liberal-Democratic party, which has a 296-151 majority in the 467-member lower house.

Kishi, an affable, ambitious politician who has been acting prime minister during Ishibashi's illness, appeared to have the inside track for the prime minister job. He was figured to be a shooin for the post in December, when Prime Minister Ichiro Hatoyama resigned, also because of ill health. But he lost out to Ishibashi by seven votes in the Dec. 14 convention of the Liberal-Democratic party, a grouping of conservative factions.

Japanese newspapers predicted Kishi would keep his place as foreign minister in addition to becoming prime minister, and would reappoint all the old cabinet members.

Is Pro-Western
Kishi, 60, has made no secret that he wanted to be premier. His reputation is that of a brilliant politician who engineered the retirement of three premiers—wartime dictator Gen. Hideki Tojo, Shigeru Yoshida and Hatoyama. He is considered more pro-Western than Hatoyama, although he has complained that Japan gets "little brother" treatment from the United States. Both Kishi and Ishibashi have supported the U. S. - backed rearmament of Japan.

News Briefs

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles expressed regret Friday that Israel "has not yet found it possible" to withdraw her forces from Egypt, but said the "door is certainly not closed" to further negotiations.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty made that statement to newsmen on behalf of the President and Dulles after Eisenhower and the secretary of state had conferred for an hour and a half on the latest Israeli turn-down of Eisenhower's proposals aimed at getting Israeli troops out of Egyptian areas they still hold.

ATLANTA (AP)—The Georgia Legislature Friday called for impeachment of six members of the U. S. Supreme Court, an action which minority members denounced as "ridiculous" and a "bit of tomfoolery."

The House gave final legislative approval by concurring 112-13 in an amendment to an impeachment resolution, which the Senate had passed yesterday 37-11. The measure now goes to Gov. Marvin Griffin, who already has given it his blessing.

STEUBENVILLE, Ohio (AP)—A mob smashed doors and windows and hurled pot bottles at non-union operators in the Adena Exchange of the Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co. Thursday night. Nobody was hurt.

It was the second such raid this week. Tuesday night the Dillonvale Exchange, four miles from Adena, was knocked out of operation for a day by a mob wielding sledge hammers and concrete blocks.

Bible Words for Today

Acts 4:19 — "But Peter and John answered them, 'Whether it is right in the sight of God to listen to you rather than to God, you must judge; for we cannot but speak of what we have seen and heard.'" Acts 5:29 — "But Peter and the apostles answered, 'We must obey God rather than men.'" (RSV)

In a day when many voices clamor to be heard and heeded, it is not surprising that we become confused and question whether anyone has supreme authority. We are prone to conclude with some: there is none that speaks the truth; no not one. Is it possible that this point of cynicism among so many is cultivated because the spiritual leaders of our time have not followed in the footsteps of Peter and the apostles? Is it possible that Christians have so long followed the thoughts and ideas of others that they have failed "to speak what they (themselves) have seen and heard" in a personal encounter with God in Christ? Is it possible that we have obeyed man rather than God in order to be sure that jobs are stable; social security of group acceptance not upset? Is it possible that Christian laymen have pressured their spiritual leaders into a position such as Amariah attempted with Amos, "O seer, go, flee away to the land of Judah, and eat bread there, and prophesy there; for it is again prophesied at Bethel, but it is the king's sanctuary, and it is a temple of the kingdom." Pray that the God of Abraham, Micah, Amos and Jesus may speak directly to us through his living Word and that we may obey his voice.

Today's Fashions

By DOROTHY ROE
The Associated Press

The going-steady crowd has a new way to tell the world they are meant for each other. They wear matching shirts, made from colored cotton broadcloth in unusual tones such as gold, pale green or olive.

Her shirt may be dressed up with some feminine frills such as rows of narrow ruffles attached on either side of the front closing and a single row of ruffling around the French cuffs. His shirt is a standard male style.

Less than five yards of fabric will do for both shirts. For his shirt you'll need some interfacing to stiffen the collar and cuffs. For hers you'll need about five yards of ruffling — be sure to get the kind that's already ruffled.

For a young seamstress who thinks a man's shirt requires some pretty expert tailoring, the experts have some reassuring advice. Follow pattern directions exactly, and you'll have little trouble. Those flat felled seams aren't as hard as they sound. Just remember to press the seams as you go, trim carefully and stitch slowly.

The buttonholes come out looking tailored and professional if you use the buttonholer attachment on your sewing machine. Remember, incidentally, that buttonholes on men's shirts always go up and down, not sideways.

The beauty of making a man's shirt is that you don't have to worry about alterations. Get the pattern in the right size — 15½ collar and 34 sleeve, for instance — and the shirt will fit.

For an added fillip, you might make matching neckties, a narrow one for her and a regular one for him. Plan to make hers on an elastic band to snap under the collar.

Matching cuff links? Well, naturally.

GEN. H. HARMON DIES ON FRIDAY OF LUNG TUMOR

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Lt. Gen. Hubert Reilly Harmon, 64, a West Point classmate of President Eisenhower, and the first superintendent of the U. S. Air Force Academy, died yesterday of a lung tumor at the Lakeland Air Force Base hospital.

Hanley, deputy chief of staff for operations at the Air Academy. Memorial services will be conducted Tuesday in Denver at the temporary site of the Air Force Academy.

Burial will be on a permanent site of the Air Force Academy at the foot of the Rocky Mountains seven miles north of Colorado Springs. Burial will be delayed until a cemetery at the permanent site is constructed.

He served as superintendent of the Air Force Academy from 1954 to 1956.

Middletown Trounces GHS BASILIO WINS 54-40; Reserves Also Bow; WITH KAYO IN SECOND ROUND Play At Hershey Tuesday

A completely outclassed Gettysburg High School basketball squad suffered a 54-40 drubbing here Friday evening at the hands of the Middletown Blue Raiders. It was the 11th loss in 18 games for the Warriors.

Middletown was never headed throughout the entire game although the score was tied at 4-4 and 6-6 midway early in the first period. The Raiders controlled both boards and their tight defense usually allowed Gettysburg but one shot at a time.

The Warriors used a zone defense, going into a man-for-man only midway in the last period. Middletown encountered little trouble in solving the defense and was never in serious trouble after the first period. The Raiders used the free lane to good advantage while the Forney-men had a miserable evening from the foul line.

Raiders Pull Away
Bert Sheeler got Middletown off to a good start with a shot shortly after the opening whistle. Todd McHenry connected on a pair of free tosses before Earl Little landed a shot from the pocket. Tom Kitzmiller knotted the count on a long one-hander. A jump-toss by McHenry was matched by another long chuck by Kitzmiller to make it 6-6 after 4:0 minutes. Middletown went out on top for keeps via a foul by Sheeler, plus his goal, and a free toss by McHenry. Kitzmiller landed his third two-pointer of the period but successive goals by Bob Howell, Harry Starr and again Howell gave Middletown a comfortable 16-8 lead at the quarter.

Middletown boosted its edge to 19-8 in the first minute of the second period before the Warriors started to reduce the visitors' advantage. Jack Crist's goal and a trio of foul tosses by Ken Keefe in the last two minutes of the half slashed Middletown's lead to 28-22 at the half.

The Warriors kept within range during the first four minutes of the third period when Sheeler's pair of goals were matched by Jon Wagnild and Kitzmiller but a goal by McHenry, five straight foul conversions, plus a goal by Iv Colston, rocketed the Raiders advantage to 41-26 with 2:30 remaining in the round to seal the outcome.

Gettysburg's reserves also suffered a crushing defeat in losing the preliminary 45-21. Middletown led all the way by a comfortable margin. Tom Flowers was high man for the local outfit with eight points and Nolte led Middletown with an even dozen.

At Hershey Tuesday
The Warriors meet Hershey Tuesday night for another South Penn doubleheader with the Trojans.

CLEVELAND (U.P.)—The lethal left hook which belted challenger Johnny Saxton into second-round oblivion last night boosted welterweight champion Carmen Basilio into a middleweight title match with either Gene Fullmer or Sugar Ray Robinson.

Before the cheering has stopped over Basilio's rousing victory in the "rubber" match with the two-time ex-champion, he was on his way up a notch in class.

Harry Markson, managing director of the International Boxing Club, settled it when he said, "We want to match Basilio in July in Yankee Stadium against the winner of the Fullmer-Robinson fight in Chicago April 24."

Will Jump At Chance
Fullmer took the middleweight crown from Robinson in January and the April date is a rematch.

Rated off his performance last night in the nationally televised scrap, there's little doubt Basilio will jump at the chance to trade punches in the 160-pound class although he went against Saxton at 147.

The third meeting of Carmen and Johnny, each of whom has held the welter crown twice, was a far cry from the first two. Last March in Chicago Saxton used hit and run tactics to gain a disputed although unanimous decision which cost Basilio the crown.

In September, at Syracuse, Basilio got the bauble back with a technical knockout, but he needed nine rounds to do it. There was nothing technical about last night's kayo as Basilio's left button hook nailed Saxton to the canvas for the full 10-count. Up to that time Saxton had taken a terrific beating.

YOUNG PRO IN HOUSTON LEAD
HOUSTON, Tex. (U.P.)—Several pre-tournament favorites were missing today as Gene Bone, young pro from Louisville, Ky., sought to protect a one stroke lead over Doug Ford in the third round of the $36,000 Houston open.

The 25-year-old Bone all but danced off the eighteenth green yesterday after sinking a 15-foot birdie putt that gave him a surprising 69-67-136—eight under par—to lead the winter tour's richest tournament after 36 holes.

Ford, former PGA champion and the 1957 tour's leading money winner, had the only other pair of scores that knocked three or more strokes off par. His 68-69-137 for the 7,200-yard, par 72 Memorial Park course left him two strokes ahead of Arnold Palmer, Latrobe, Pa., and amateur Phil Rodgers, University of Houston freshman from Jo Lolla, Calif.

Today's third round had a reduced field of 90 pros and 8 amateurs. The 36-hole cutoff point was 149, five over par. The 60 players eliminated including such stars as Cary Middlecoff, Jack Burke Jr., Jim Turnesa, Shelley Mayfield, Henry Ransom, and Sam Uzzetta.

Deen Wood, Liberty, Tex., used a pair of 70s to hold fifth place at 140. A seven way tie at 141 included Jimmy Demaret, Klamath Falls, Ore.

FARRELL, Pa. (U.P.)—Farrell's state basketball champion team was eliminated from the WPIAL race last night as Sharon won the Sect. 3 crown, edging Farrell 57-50.

Sharon, earlier this season on its own court, defeated Farrell 50-37. It was only the second loss for Farrell at home in its last 108 games.

SCHOOL GROUPS AT LOGGERHEADS

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 23 (U.P.)—The Ivy League and the Eastern College Athletic Assn. are at loggerheads with the NCAA over the latter's new recruitment rule.

Dr. Gaylor Harwell, president of the University of Pennsylvania and chairman of the Ivy Policy Committee, pointed out last night that the NCAA regulation is directly opposite to the Ivy and its policy on the subject.

The NCAA, in convention at St. Louis last month, passed an amendment which said a college is expected to be responsible for payment of transportation and entertainment costs of any prospective athlete visiting a campus.

The NCAA objective is to curb overzealous booster clubs and other alumni groups interested in recruiting athletes for colleges.

Dr. Harwell, in a statement, said: "To comply with the existing NCAA legislation the Ivies would be required to set up two distinct programs, one for the athlete and one for the non-athlete. Such a step would force Ivy institutions to repudiate the basic philosophy expressed in their agreement, which states that the players shall not be made up of a group of specially recruited athletes."

Lone Bandit Gets $4,350 At Bowie
BOWIE, Md. (U.P.)—The biggest winner among the 25,000 fans at Bowie Race Course was a daring bandit who walked into a money counting room, took $4,350 in cash and hid himself in the near holiday crowd.

His hand in his pocket as if holding a gun, the bandit entered the room, stuck something hard in the back of ticket seller Leo M. Coll of Baltimore and said, "Don't holler or make a sound or I'll let you have it."

Coll said the man took the $4,350, representing advance ticket sales on the eighth race, backed out the door and was gone. Eight other ticket sellers were there but none heard or saw the gunman. Neither did five policemen not far away.

Sharon, earlier this season on its own court, defeated Farrell 50-37. It was only the second loss for Farrell at home in its last 108 games.

Hatching Eggs Require Special Handling, County Agent Notes; Urges Center Pole Metering

By FRANK S. ZETTL
Adams County Farm Agent

All of the practices which have to do with care and handling of eggs for market apply to hatching eggs, with several additions. Hatching eggs need to be gathered 3 to 5 times daily, the more frequently when the weather is very warm or very cold. Overheating and chilling seriously affect hatchability. After gathering, take the eggs to a cool, moist well ventilated egg room and within 24 hours pack them into egg cases. The best egg rooms are located under ground for least fluctuation in temperature. Keep egg room temperatures 50 to 60 degrees and humidity (moisture content in air) at 75 per cent, or better, for best conditions for holding either hatching or market eggs prior to shipment.

Clean eggs hatch better than soiled eggs or washed eggs. Do not set or select for incubation eggs that are so badly soiled that an emery cloth or knife cannot readily remove the accumulated material. The best answer to the soiled egg problem is to produce clean eggs. That is done by frequently replenishing the nest material, gathering eggs often during the hours of heaviest production and by maintaining a deep, soft bed of dry litter on the floor.

Center Pole Metering
Many farmers in Adams and neighboring counties are installing "center pole metering" when making changes in their electric wiring systems for increased use of electricity around the farmstead. This provides greater over-all economy and more efficient operation of equipment.

Often meters have been located on the house with distribution of electricity to the other buildings made from that point. This arrangement worked out satisfactorily so long as the home used a high percentage of the electricity. But now electric loads in other buildings may be as large or larger than that in the house. This is where a center meter pole is desirable.

With this arrangement a separate set of wires is run from the meter pole to each major building where the load or the location justifies a separate line.

Some advantages of pole metering are: Shorter service wires are needed, because the pole is located as near the center of the different loads as possible; less voltage drop, which means better operation of equipment; when necessary to change the service equipment in any one building, services to the other buildings are not affected, service can be taken directly from meter pole to pump house, which is an advantage in case of fire, and loss of one building by fire will not affect services to the other.

Anyone planning a re-wiring job should contact his power supplier about the possibility of changing to center pole metering. The power supplier will help determine the best location for the benefit of both the user and power supplier.

It's a mighty good idea to dock and castrate lambs at an early age. The setback in growth and loss of vitality is much less if these operations are performed while the lambs are young. It's possible to take care of docking and castrating at the same time. The shock is lessened if docking is done first, followed by castration of the male lambs a few days later. It is advisable to get both jobs done while lambs are one to two weeks of age. Docked lambs are cleaner less subject to infestation, and present a blocky appearance. Altered male lambs will develop more desirable carcasses and are not so likely to become restless as they grow older. Be sure to do the job early and keep pens clean and well bedded to prevent infection.

Find Infections In Chickens

This is the third of a series of weekly articles by faculty members of the School of Veterinary Medicine of the University of Pennsylvania. They will deal with disease problems of cattle and poultry.

By DR. G. GEORGE SPARLING
During the fall and winter months of 1956 the accessions of poultry brought into the diagnostic laboratory have shown an increase in the number of birds and individual flocks affected with internal parasites.

Domestic chickens in good flesh and in production often carry a few roundworms, sometimes caecal worms, and occasionally a tapeworm. When these parasites are found, the condition is noted on the autopsy report for the owner's information, but a diagnosis of parasitism is not given.

In recent months we have received groups of laying pullets reported as falling off in production which appear to be losing weight with feed intake slightly reduced but no significant mortality. On post mortem random sample birds from these flocks have been found to contain large numbers of intestinal worm parasites. In many cases the small intestines have been so packed with roundworms as to interfere with the passage of nutrients through the bowel. In some cases of extremely poor body weight masses of tapeworms were present in the small intestine. The majority of parasitized specimens contained caecal worms. The caecal worm is most dangerous as the carrier of the Blackhead parasite, and under conditions of reduced vigor chickens as well as turkeys may develop the disease.

The diagnostic laboratory advises all poultrymen to check their parasite control program. Some of the newer drugs may be used during the laying period without disturbing production or feed intake. Intestinal parasites can be eliminated, and they must be held under tight control for peak flock performance.

AFTER YOU
OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Patrolman J. P. Perrine was boiling when he jumped from his scout car after it and another vehicle collided.

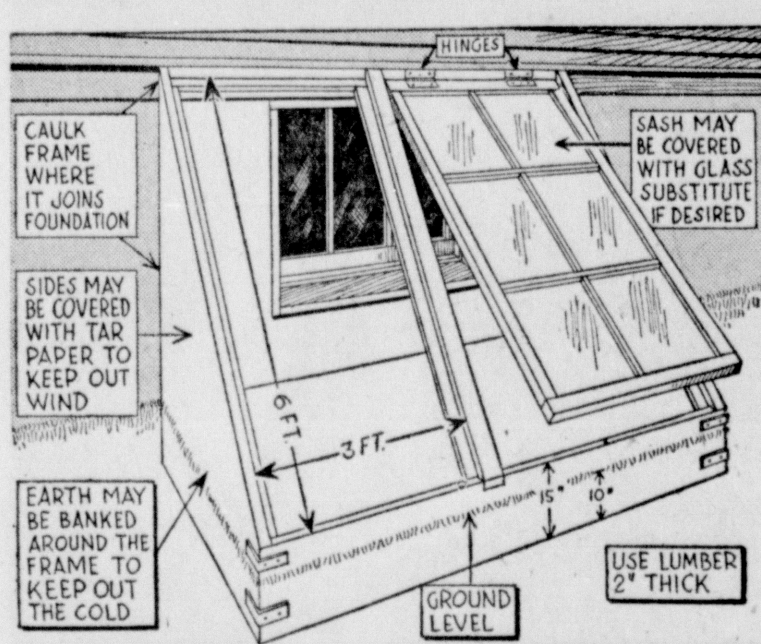

The driver of the other car, Phil Eisenhower, a former policeman, also jumped out ready for anything. They were set with some pretty hot words when they recognized each other as old police buddies.

When accident investigator Bill Lewellen arrived at the scene, Perrine claimed he was at fault, forgetting to stop at the corner. Eisenhower said he was going too fast and went through a red light.

Lewellen, faced with such a situation for the first time, scratched his head and finally gave both men accident forms to fill out after they had more time to think.

ROBIN RIDES AGAIN
CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP) — Bows and arrows taken from the Southern Illinois University have Dennis Perry looking for the Robin Hood who shot up his upholstery shop. He found 12 steel-tipped arrows that crashed through windows and stuck in the roof or glanced harmlessly off the brick exterior. The bows were lying in the back yard.

The Jordan River, subject of arguments between the Arab and Israeli forces, is known as the "Down-Come" in Hebrew. It is 700 feet below sea level at the Sea of Galilee, and finally empties into the Dead Sea 1,286 feet below the level of the Mediterranean.

ON THE HOUSE

By ANDREW C. LANG
The Associated Press

An unfinished expansion attic gives a home owner the opportunity to increase the living space of his house when the occasion demands.

Lumber yards and building supply dealers can tell you that thousands of Americans are undertaking this project on their own. To most of these thousands, it is a first-time venture into the actual construction of anything as large as a room.

Think It Out
Entirely aside from the choice of materials, which is governed largely by individual taste and the size of the pocketbook, there are other decisions to be made before getting down to the work itself.

These involve such things as the height of the ceiling, the size of the walls, the depth of built-ins and the amount of storage space. You can't do much about these matters in most extra rooms. In a basement, for instance, your construction of a finished area is guided to a considerable degree by the physical setup as it stands. But in an attic, almost everything is determined by you, and an amazing amount of flexibility is possible.

If you want the room to be as wide as possible, then the side walls, known as knee walls, must be very low. The higher the knee walls, the narrower the room will be. And the narrower the room, the more storage space you'll have under the eaves, assuming that you are planning on using the space for storage.

One way of saving yourself work is to make the knee walls 4 feet high especially if you are using wallboard or plywood or any of the materials which come in dimensions of 4 feet by 7 or 8 feet. This will keep cutting to a minimum. Further cutting can be eliminated by making the distance between the top of the knee walls and the start of the ceiling also 4 feet.

Probably the greatest work and time saver of all is a sketch of the entire layout as you want it to be. It doesn't have to be a work of art, just a diagram showing exactly where everything is, giving measurements, and clear enough to be understood by you when you look at it a day or a week or a month later.

Needless Cutting
You'll recognize the importance of such a sketch when you begin putting up the framework for the walls. It will show you, to give just one example, when to omit one or two upright studs at a particular spot in order to make room for a closet or a built-in. If you put up all the studding without regard for planned recesses, you'll have a lot of needless cutting later on. Perhaps that seems very fundamental to you, but it's surprising how many times studding has to be cut out of a framework because the amateur builder neglected to leave space for one or more desired built-ins. And while we're on the subject, don't forget that all attic door and window openings should be framed with double 2 by 4's, just as they should be in all good construction.

Most expansion attics have sub-floors, which should be covered with plywood or hardboard if you plan on putting down asphalt or vinyl or any of the other resilient floor tiles. This base, or underlayment, should be put down after you put up the framework for the walls but before you install the wall material. The tiles themselves need not be laid until the rest of the room is completed. Some persons like to put down the floor earlier in the job, but experience shows that it is difficult to keep it from getting marred during the rest of the construction work.

Finishing an attic is nothing more than a lot of small projects (any one of which you wouldn't hesitate to tackle) put together into one large project. If you make a sketch you can understand and take your time with the framing, doing the measuring accurately and being certain that all fastenings are secure, you'll find that the walls and ceilings will pretty much take care of themselves. It's when you do a poor job with the framing that you run into a lot of snags in the installation of the part of the room that will be visible.

Modern architects seem to be indebted to the cavemen when it comes to getting daylight into houses. Windows and even window walls create so much glare when we enter any good-sized room that we have to turn on a light to read a telephone book at any time of day. The cavemen was lucky. He couldn't read.

Of course, our cavewomen are partly to blame for this handicap. Their pretty curtains and draperies cut down our cave openings to spotlight sizes. How can you see enough even to appreciate a cave-woman's makeup while you stare at a blinding sunbeam?

The University of Michigan's

Daylighting Laboratory decided that with all of our inventions for getting flowers and shrubbery and fresh conditioned air into homes, it might be a good idea to include some healthy daylight. To prove that this was no highbrow dream, Dr. Robert A. Boyd, director of the laboratory, built himself a house in Ann Arbor, Mich. He calls it a house without dark corners.

New Inventions
He turned the trick by using a maximum of the newest inventions in glass, including prismatic glass block skylights designed to reject glare and heat from the summer sun and to admit more light and warmth from the lower winter sun. Skylighting the inner reaches of the house, says Dr. Boyd, cancels the contrast of concentrated window light.

"Looking at a brightness area in a house is like driving into an automobile's headlights," he says. "Face headlights in darkness and their brightness is blinding. Meet the same headlights in broad daylight and you may have to look twice to be sure they're on. Brightness ratio is the answer."

Diffuse Daylight
Various clever devices of design were used to diffuse daylight through Dr. Boyd's house. Harris Armstrong, architect of Kirkwood, Mo., planned the house. For privacy on the road side he wanted a ground-to-roof brick wall. To have this and still admit light for a stairway from kitchen to basement, the brick wall was perforated with single glass blocks.

The entrance foyer needed no view, but needed light. Its walls were built of glass blocks to simulate the effect of colonial bulls-eye glass.

Living room and dining room enjoyed picturesque views of a wooded ravine, justifying the use of walls of clear glass panels. But these rooms faced south and therefore called for broad roof overhangs to shade their window walls from the blazing summer sun. Overhangs of this width tend to darken rooms as much as an addition of a porch. This problem was solved by using a clerestory of solar-selective glass block above the window wall and above the roof of the overhang.

This clerestory arrangement dropped the overhang about a foot or so below the room ceiling, increased shading and still lighted the ceiling. The solar block reflects sunlight up to the ceiling in the manner modern schoolrooms are lighted.

Top lighting of the prismatic skylight type used by Dr. Boyd, is opening new opportunities in house design. For example, artificially ventilated bathrooms, practical in hotels, can be used

Now Is Time To Prune, Feed Grapevines

By The Master Gardener

Late February is the time to prune and feed grapevines, an annual chore which is often neglected.

Through grapes are the hardest of vines and will exist without any attention whatsoever, they do require special care in pruning and feeding in order to stimulate production of fruit.

Old vines, no matter how old and no matter how overgrown, may be rejuvenated and brought back into good production. Since grapevines bear fruit on the canes which grew during the last year, they can be quickly reformed, in homes to free exterior walls for more important use. Dr. Boyd likes the skylight in his bathroom so much for shaving that it still fools him.

"Even after months of living in the house," he says, "I am myself automatically reaching for a switch to turn off the light after I've finished with the razor."

"I didn't realize proper daylighting would be that good."

even though the tangle may look impossible.

Before you start pruning, learn how to recognize last year's wood from which the fruit will grow from old, unproductive wood two years or older. The latter is dark brown, or nearly black with strips of loose bark hanging from it. The wood that grew last year, however, is a light, chestnut color, very smooth.

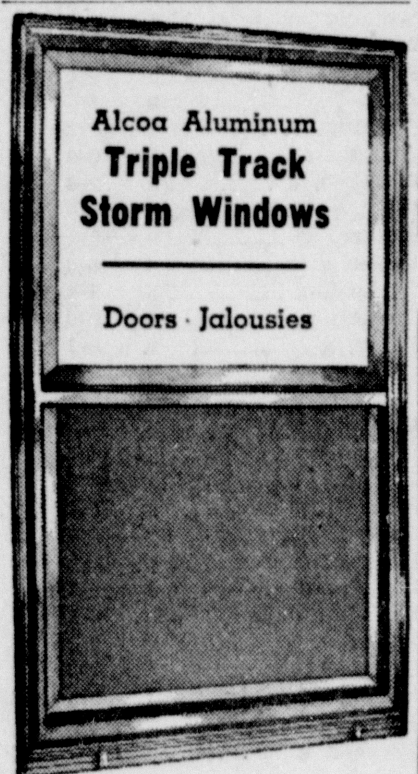

First, select four canes which grew last year, each having ten or fifteen joints or buds on it. They should originate as close to the main trunk as possible. After selecting these, several renewal spurs should be chosen on the main trunk. Cut these back to three or four buds to provide a starting point for growth of 1958 bearing wood. Then cut out all old canes and undesirable new ones and tie the main trunk and each of the four canes loosely to a trellis. You will probably remove a tremendous amount of prunings, but don't be alarmed, for you are not harming the vine.

Scatter from 5 to 8 pounds of Vigoro over an area within a radius of 5 feet around each vine.

Due to the severe pruning, you may get a lot of vine growth but not much fruit the first year. However, in the years to come, if vines are pruned regularly and fed well, they will provide plenty of tasty fruit.

FARMERS BACK LICENSE FEE CUT ON TRUCKS

Officers and board members of the Adams County Farmers' Association this week announced their full support for legislation in Harrisburg which would reduce the license fee on farm trucks.

George W. Stock, New Oxford, president of the association, said that the proposed reduction of the farm truck fee would help considerably in bolstering net farm income by helping to reduce farm operating costs.

He said all states surrounding Pennsylvania now have a special reduced rate for farm trucks, as evidence that a similar reduction in Pennsylvania is justified. Only farm trucks, not used for hire, would be eligible for the reduced license. The proposal calls for a 50 per cent reduction on all farm truck fees, with the exception of the "R" license, which would be reduced to the same rate as automobiles.

Gives Statistics
It has been shown, association directors said, that the average farm truck is used on the highways only about 6,000 miles per year. Commercial trucks run over the highways at the rate of from 30,000 to 60,000 miles a year.

"It seems to us," said President Stock, "that trucks which are used very little on the highways should not be charged the same rate as commercial trucks."

A farm truck is defined as one that is used by a farmer strictly for his own use in hauling his produce to the market and for carrying supplies back to his farm. Any farmer who uses his truck for hire would have to pay the regular commercial fee.

Bi-Partisan Backing
The bill to reduce the truck fee was introduced in the House February 18, with bi-partisan support. Identified as House Bill 480, it was sponsored by two Democrats and two Republicans.

It is estimated there are approximately 72,500 farm trucks in the Commonwealth, which would be eligible for the reduced fee. Farm truck owners would save a total of approximately $1,758,000 through passage of the bill.

The question of the truck license fee was discussed by members of the County Farmers Association at the annual meeting last October. Delegates to the annual convention of the Pennsylvania Farmers' Association

The journey is to take the group around southeast Asia, the Middle East and Mediterranean before it Bermuda and home.

MAN KILLED IN HOUSTON BLAST

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — An explosion ripped through a paper manufacturing plant near here yesterday killing one man, injuring at least seven and causing a fire that could be seen for miles.

It caused many recall to recall the April 16, 1947, Texas city explosions which caused 512 deaths and untold millions of damage.

Officials of the Champion Paper and Fibre Co. were unable to day's explosion which sprung two 125,000-gallon tanks in which liquid caustic soda was stored. The soda leaked to the ground and more than 20 persons suffered light burns when they walked through the liquid. The chemical is used in refining wood pulp.

Lee R. Clements, 43, was found under a tank. He died later of burns. A pipefitter, he was working atop a tank when the explosion occurred.

Rescue vehicles clogged streets leading to the plant which is located on the ship channel at Pasadena, about 10 miles from downtown Houston in a vast petrochemical industrial area. About 1,800 persons were employed there. The plant will be shut down a few days.

At Harrisburg last November adopted an official policy of the organization which called for legislation designed to reduce the truck fee.

45,000 DOCKERS ORDERED BACK TO WORK TODAY

NEW YORK (AP) — Some 45,000 dockers from Maine to Virginia were ordered back to work today. Their return marks the end of a 10-day strike of East Coast ports.

Following settlement of union local issues in Baltimore and Hampton Roads, Va., William V. Bradley, president of the International Longshoremen's Assn. (ILA) said yesterday: "This time we mean it. The men go back to work." He made the announcement after New York longshoremen voted 6,829 to 4,017 to ratify the contract.

The ILA reached a master agreement with shipping employers last Sunday and Bradley issued a back-to-work order Wednesday. The edict backfired Thursday when longshoremen in other ports refused to return to work until the Baltimore and Hampton Roads disputes were settled. Baltimore fell in line Thursday night and Hampton Roads yesterday morning.

Full Sale Operations
Alexander Chopin, head of the 170-member New York Shipping Assn., the employers group here, said "full-scale operations" would be in order over the week-end.

Losses to shippers and industry during the strike, which started Feb. 12 after an 80-day Taft-Hartley Act injunction expired, have amounted to an estimated 30 million dollars. More than 100 ships were tied up. Some liners, arriving with cargo, were forced to leave port with their holds still full.

New York Harbor also continues to feel the effects of a tugboat strike, now in its 23rd day. Some 4,000 tug crewmen yesterday voted down a proposed new contract.

Reaches Agreements
Even before this month's strike started, union and management agreed on a 32-cent hourly wage increase spread over a three-year contract. The basic hourly rate, now $2.66, is retroactive to last Oct. 1. The coastwide contract covers wages, hours, and employer contributions for welfare and pensions.

Various locals reached their own agreements with employers on holidays, vacations, benefits and working conditions. These issues proved the chief stumbling blocks during negotiations which began last August.

Colonel Locked Up; Guardsmen March

CLEVELAND (AP) — A National Guard regiment — the proud Cleveland Grays — marched through the downtown here in a Washington Day parade minus Col. Robert M. Campbell, who was scheduled to lead them. When the regiment returned to the armory after the parade, it was found someone had accidentally locked Campbell in the men's dressing room.

Stray Boxer Takes Over Man's Auto

DALLAS (AP) — There's a dog in town that likes Charles Graham's car better than he likes Graham. Graham, an electrical contractor, said he left his house and the dog wandered into his yard and wagged its tail. The boxer got in the car and when Graham tried to get in the dog growled.

Graham called police, the police called R. J. Flaherty of the health department, and after an hour the dog was taken from the car. The dog was taken for a ride to the animal shelter.

HE'S GOT THE BEST
FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — This Fresno man says positively he does not need a better mouse trap. William N. Campbell reported today he baited a trap in his motel cabin with a butter substitute two days in a row. Each morning there were two mice in the one trap.

The number of people working on farms in California is approximately 585,600.
